50th Anniversary of the Founding of our Parish, The Church of the Incarnation, 1963-2013:

Committee work and the planning of events
is in place to celebrate our 50th Jubilee Year.
In addition to our collection of photographs,
relative to church history and events, the Commemorative Book Committee would be pleased to receive any photos that our parishioners may have to add to our collection for publication. If you wish to share your photos, please write your name, address, and phone number on the back of each photograph so they may be returned to you. You may leave your envelope of photographs in the sacristy
for Toni Munoz, Coordinator of the Jubilee Celebration. Thank you.

Pro-Life Thought of the Week

Every day the experience, of our predecessors increases our ability to change nature by using its own laws.

But using this power wisely is what each generation must learn in its own turn.

We are certainly more powerful today than ever before, but we are no wiser.

Technology is cumulative, wisdom is not.

Thoughts, by Jerome LeJeune

There will be a "Project Baby Love" collection next weekend. Disposable diapers & wipes are requested. Thank you!

The Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered at The Church of the Incarnation on Sunday, December 9th at 2pm with a Mass. Archbishop Henry J. Mansell will preside. Confirmation Rehearsal will be held on Saturday, December 8th at 1pm in Fr. Crawford Hall.

Prayerful Approaches to Bible Study

Study of the Word of God in an historical and cultural perspective is important. Using tools such as footnotes and written resources can provide a richer understanding of the original intended meanings of the passages. A second component of Bible Study is equally important: the prayerful reflection upon the Word. A few of these approaches to Bible Study are summarized below and will be incorporated each week.

Many centuries ago when most people were illiterate, the faithful would often go to local monasteries to listen to the Word of God or be given a passage upon which to reflect. We carry on this tradition by allowing our daily reading to leave us with thoughts that we can ponder throughout the day. Perhaps as we linger with a special passage or phrase, it is the Holy Spirit's message for us this particular day. This practice was incorporated into four prayerful "movements" known as lectio divina: lectio (reading of or listening to the Word), meditatio (reflecting upon the Word), oratio (prayerfully responding to the Word), and contemplatio (observing a silent presence before the Word).

St. Ignatius of Loyola and others offered an approach to Scripture based upon imagination. While immersed in a Gospel passage, for example, followers of this approach might imagine the scene, the dialogue, the crowds, the healing, and the preaching, and place themselves into the setting. They would literally "walk with Christ" in his every encounter.

This approach can certainly enhance the meaning of a passage and bring one close to the heart of Christ's activity and message.

Whichever approach we take, the Bible draws us personally – our history, experiences, personalities, emotions, and longings – into its very depths. It is in those depths that we encounter the living Christ.

As we journey through Scripture, may we embrace the Word more deeply and come to know Christ, the Incarnate Word, more intimately.

In your packet of December collection envelopes you will find an envelope to provide Christmas flowers in memory of loved ones. Kindly return it before Christmas. Good Luck to all the Incarnation C.Y.O. Basketball Teams as they begin their season!!! Go Incarnation!!!

CHRIST, THE KING

The selection from the book of Daniel presented in today's first reading was part of an attempt to weave a vision of ultimate success for the Jews under persecution. Exactly whom the author had in mind when he refers to "one like a Son of Man" is hotly disputed by scholars today. The fact is, we simply do not know if the author meant anyone in particular or if this is a collective, figurative image of Israel's triumph. What we do know is that the early Christian community seized upon this passage and recognized it as a messianic prophecy, a foretelling of the ultimate triumph of Jesus as the Christ of God. The Lectionary's juxtaposition of this text with today's Gospel narrative of Jesus before Pilate is a wonderful example of how the liturgy "layers" passages with new meaning by inserting them in a particular context.

The celebration of Christ the King allows us to hear these passages with a new depth of meaning in light of our contemporary understanding of how, in Jesus and his resurrection and ascension, we have seen the fulfillment of Daniel's vision of ultimate deliverance. The veiled admission of Jesus before Pilate that he did indeed have a kingdom "not here" takes on new meaning against the cosmic vision of Daniel, who allows us to glimpse the "Ancient One" on his heavenly throne.

TODAY'S READINGS

First Reading — One like a Son of man received dominion, glory, and kingship (Daniel 7:13-14).

Psalm — The Lord is king; he is robed in majesty (Psalm 93).

Second Reading — Jesus Christ is the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead (Revelation 1:5-8).

Gospel — For this I came into the world, to testify to the truth (John 18:33b-37).

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

Despite the fact that the feast of Christ the King was established less than a century ago, it has already undergone a shift in focus. When Pope Pius XI established this feast in 1925, nationalism and fascism were on the rise. The pope intended that it be a "vehicle for spiritual teaching," one that would recognize the ultimate authority of Christ over all political and social scheming. The last Sunday of October was chosen as the date for the feast because of its proximity to the feast of All Saints, those men and women who bore witness to Christ's reign in so many different ways.

The calendar reforms of 1969 moved the feast to the last Sunday of the liturgical year. There, in the context of November's focus on the end times, Christ's second coming at the end of all time is highlighted. The threefold cycle of readings also expands our imaginations in regard to this feast. In this year's Gospel, Christ stands before Pilate, whose own power blinds him to the truth of the Lord's kingdom. In a world where oppression still holds sway over too many people, this feast is somehow still as timely as when Pope Pius XI first established it.

GRATITUDE

What is gladness without gratitude, and where is gratitude without a God?

—Coventry Patmore

ORIGINALITY

Remember that God prefers the poverty of our hearts to the most sublime thoughts borrowed from others.

—St. Peter Julian Eymard
